MEDIA RELEASE

A-ROSA River Cruises announces concrete dates for the resumption of its sailings

Dr. med. Jens Tülsner becomes fleet doctor | Served menus enrich the gastronomic experience

Rostock, 03rd June 2020 – With travel warnings for 31 European countries scheduled to be lifted mid-June, A-ROSA ALVA, sailing on the Portuguese Douro river shall recommence its operation on 17th of June. Voyages on Rhine and Danube are scheduled to follow on 19th and 20th of June 2020 and the restart of A-ROSA's French operation, on the Seine and Rhône/Saône rivers is intended for early July.

Any possible adjustments of A-ROSA's plans would be communicated promptly. These might become necessary, should authorities' COVID-pandemic related regulations and local circumstances change.

A-ROSA has developed a comprehensive hygiene and health concept to ensure that hygiene and distancing protocols will be suitably applied. Supported by medical doctor Jens Tülsner, he will continue to lend his expertise and advise A-ROSA in the capacity of inhouse medical practitioner.

The wellbeing of all guests is A-ROSA's highest priority, apart from their safety. Guests can rest assured that the hygiene and health measures will be implemented in a fashion not to impact their enjoyment, relaxation and overall holiday experience. This will also be reflected in the dining experience where local culinary specialities will be served in addition to all-time favourites. Starting with comprehensive breakfast options, guests can look forward to delicious 3-course lunches and 4-course dinners, all served at the table and inspired by the respective local regions. On the Danube, for example, there will be a Hungarian Night, on the Northern Rhine the menu will be influenced by Holland and Belgium and on the Southern Rhine A-ROSA will offer culinary delights such as Black Forest and Swiss Cuisine dinners.
